Natural! wine

“Natural wine” covers some combination of organic and possibly biodynamic farming, and the use of local (not imported) yeasts for fermentation, and most are “spontaneously fermented” which simply uses yeasts residing naturally on the grapes. Many are not filtered and the excessive use of oak is discouraged. Generally, natural wines are less manipulated so as to let the grapes and their environs shine, sometimes randomly. Curated by Mark Bires, not a sommelier but a noted wino. All reds are kept at cellar temperature (~57°). Glasses are ~6 ounce pours.

$35/Bottle corkage fee for outside bottles brought into the restaurant.

WINE BY GLASS

PIQUETTE A centuries old technique, historically made for vineyard workers, now trendy. Made by adding water to stems, seeds, and skins from the initial wine crush, then allowing the remaining sugars to ferment, yielding a lighter, lower alcohol drink. Fun and easy drinking, and consumption bestows instant hipster status!
